

Chocolate Making Team Challenge

Can you save the factory from a sticky ending...

This is a fantastic activity for any company looking to hold a teambuilding event or fun activity. Everyone will enjoy the chance to get their hands messy and demonstrate their cookery skills - or lack of them! The chocolatier will take everyone through the process of making Belgian truffles and you will actually be 'hands on' and getting very chocolaty!

We recommend splitting the groups into 6 – 10 for this event.

The brief will be that ' Your team has just taken over a failing chocolate factory and your task is to turn the company around ' Each group then has to identify a target market, design logos, branding, packaging and make a jingle to advertise their product. At the same time some of the group will also be making the chocolates as described above, the team will have to split themselves into marketing and advertising in one half and the chocolate makers in the other half, but of course all working together. They will have exactly 2 hours to complete the task, which includes using all available packaging, before each group have 3 minutes to present their chocolate campaign inc singing the jingle!!!!

As well as thrilling activities and an exciting day out, there will be the opportunity for everyone to work in small teams allowing them to observe and learn from people within their own group. This will enhance professional performance and foster skills that can be transferred to the working environment, such as:

Communication Skills
Leadership and Delegation Capabilities
Time and Resource Management
Problem Solving
